BATTLE OVER MOHR RICHES

Steamer Sunk in Maine Crash; All Safe

TOURISTS IN PERIL IN FOG

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 8.—One hundred and fifty passengers, most of them wealthy Boston and New York Summer residents, narrowly escaped with their lives today when the Maine Central steamer Pemaquid and the Eastern Steamship Company's steamer J. T. Morse were in collision off Turks Island.

After the collision the J. T. Morse sank, but not until her passengers had got safely ashore. No one was injured.

The Pemaquid, Captain Cecil Wescott, was bound for Rockland from Stonington, Me., with passengers for the New York express, which leaves Rockland at 10 o'clock.

The J. T. Morse, Captain Harry Shute, was bound out for Bar Harbor. Each steamer had about seventy-five passengers on board, nearly all of them wealthy Summer people.

When off Turks Island and in a dense fog the boats came together. Fortunately, both had slowed down on account of the fog.

According to stories told by the passengers, the Pemaquid struck the Morse abaft the port gangway. There was a wild scramble of the passengers to get out of the way as the steel body of the Pemaquid cut deeply into the wooden hull of the Morse.

After the shock of the collision the pumps were started on the Morse. It was soon seen the steamer was sinking. Then commenced a race against the incoming water, in an effort to reach shore before she sank.

The Morse was headed for Moose Island, and the wharf there was made in safety, where the passengers were landed.

Shortly after the last passenger landed the Morse sank at her moorings.

The Pemaquid stood by. She was not seriously damaged. After the Morse passengers were landed safely she continued on her trip and arrived in Rockland with a small hole in her bow.

The Pemaquid is a screw steamer, built of steel. She is 144 feet long and 28 feet beam.

The J. T. Morse is a side-wheel steamer built of wood. She is 189 feet long and 31 feet beam. She was built in Boston in 1904.

ARREST IN KILLING OF JUDGE

The Worcester police today detained a man whom they believed to be Harry Edwards, sought by the Rhode Island authorities to account for himself at the time Judge Willis S. Knowles was shot to death from ambush near his home at Scituate, R. I.

Over the long-distance telephone the Worcester police said:

"We have a man who we think is Edwards. We have a number of charges against him. He does not admit he is Edwards."

At Providence Chief Inspector William F. O'Neil of the Providence police declared he believed the man held at Worcester was Edwards. He sent Inspector A'Hearn and Godfrey to Worcester to see if they could identify the man as Edwards.

Word of the detention at Worcester of the man thought to be Edwards came after the Rhode Island officials had surrounded a section of woods not far from the town of Scituate, in their hunt for Edwards, whom they are anxious to question. Deputy sheriffs at Scituate had been informed that he had been seen near the woods.

FARMER QUESTIONED.

Edwards is not formally charged with connection with the death of Judge Knowles. The authority for the search for him is based on seven warrants charging him with breaking and entering, violation of game laws and larceny. On account of threats which Edwards is said to have made against Judge Knowles, the police are especially anxious to question him.

Edward Fontaine, the Providence barber who lives on the farm adjoining Judge Knowles' estate, and who had disputes with the Judge about his right to close up a right of way over the Fontaine farm, was

Diamonds Figure in Contempt Case

Diamond rings and earrings figured in the case of Hyman and Joseph Foreman, Chelsea blacksmith, who were in the Superior Court today before Judge Waht on a charge of contempt of court. Both were sentenced to jail for an indefinite term. Hyman Foreman bought a diamond ring and diamond earrings for his wife. Joseph Foreman made a similar purchase for his wife. Later, it was testified, the jewels were pawned and it was alleged the two men owed $425 on the rings and $841 on the earrings. They were given thirty days in which to pay. Later contempt proceedings resulted.

Ex-Gov. Guild Estate Valued at $299,879

An inventory of the estate of the late ex-Governor Curtis Guild, filed today, values the estate, which is entirely personal, at $299,879.68. The property includes miscellaneous bonds to the amount of $187,453.10 and $47,247.56 in municipal bonds. The inventory shows that the interest of the ex-Governor in the firm of Curtis Guild & Co. amounted to $15,000, while his collection of armor and weapons amounted to $1,200 and he had $600 in jewelry.

$19,455,000 in Gold Moved in N. Y. Streets

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—One of the largest fortunes ever conveyed through the streets of New York was transferred from the American Express Company building to the United States Sub-Treasury, escorted by twenty-one mounted policemen and fifty armed detectives.

J. P. Morgan & Co. issued a statement saying the gold totalled $19,455,000, divided as follows: American gold coin valued at $7,-450,000 and English sovereigns to the amount of 42,390,000 (approximately $11,815,000). The firm has no statement to make with reference to the amount, description, or value of the securities imported.

The gold, which is to protect the credit of the allies in this country, is the third shipment from England within a month, and the largest of the three. It reached New York last night by special steel train from Halifax to which port it was brought by a British warship.

Since August 2, $106,000,000 in gold and $50,000,000 in securities has been shipped here from England and France and it is possible that similar shipments to this port by Italy and Russia will bring the total up to $200,000,000.

U. S. FEARS NEW DISPUTE ON ARABIC

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. — An explanation from Germany justifying the sinking of the liner Arabic on the ground of "military expediency is expected shortly.

Berlin advices that the submarine responsible was not the one sunk on August 21, and that the Arabic's assailant has reached port were received with surprise by officials here. If they prove accurate it is expected that the Arabic question will be pushed to a conclusion without further loss of time.

If the Berlin intimations are borne out and the submarine captain claims that he believed the Arabic was trying to ram him, then a question of veracity will be raised between his story and the sworn affidavits of the captain of the liner.

NEUTRALS TO DECIDE.

In that connection it was pointed out at the State Department today that where an issue of this sort is raised the final decision rests under international law, with the neutral nation whose interests have been violated.

So far as the Hesperian is concerned, officials believe that it presents no question that will bring about a crisis. They have accepted the promises made through Ambassador von Bernstorff in good faith and will wait until information is at hand before deciding whether this government shall act. The question of the gun carried by the liner is a very material factor and even though it should turn out that an American citizen, T. J. Wolff, a member of the crew, actually lost his life, the facts presented would not be changed.

The Central News Agency at London announced this afternoon that the American Consul at Queenstown had officially notified Ambassador Page

English, French and Russian Steamers Sunk

By International News Service.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Ellerman liner Duoro has been sunk by a submarine. It is announced that her crew was landed today. The Duoro hailed from London and was an iron crew steamer of 1,693 tons, built in 1881 at Sunderland. She was in the Archangel-Hull service.

The French steamer Guatemala has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine fifty miles off Belle Isle on the west coast of France. A British steamer picked up the crew in two boats and landed them at St. Nazaire. The Guatemala was owned by the French Line, owners of the freighter Bordeaux, reported torpedoed yesterday.

The Russian steamer Rhea, 1,145 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine. The crew was rescued.

The Garony, a British steamship, has been sunk by a German submarine, off Cape Balaines, near La Rochelle, France. The attack took place last night, and the crew was rescued and landed at La Rochelle today by a fishing boat.

GREET CZAR AS COMMANDER BY NEW DEFEAT

By International News Service.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Following closely upon the heels of the announcement that the Czar, during transferred the Grand Duke Nicholas to the Caucasus, had taken command of his armies in person, comes the announcement from Berlin that the Teutonic onslaught has smashed the Russian defence and that forced to gives battle when overtaken on their retreat, the Czar's troops have again been defeated.

Today's report of the Berlin General Staff announces the capture of Wolkowysk, the railway centre, where a battle was reported yesterday, and also states that the Russians had been defeated at Izabelin, southeast of Wolkowysk.

At Wolkowysk the German claimed the capture of 2,000 soldiers and 4 machine guns. In the same region, northeast of Prushany, Austrian troops have taken one thousand prisoners.

Grand Duke Nicholas' deposition as Russian commander-in-chief and his transfer to the comparatively unimportant Caucasian front is regarded here as the greatest military sensation of the war. Its apparent cause is seen in the continued retreat of the Russian armies and the loss of all the Russian fortresses on the first and second line of defence, but there is a possibility that the real cause is far different, according to military experts, who are closely watching the situation in the Czar's empire.

Grand Duke Nicholas has always been regarded as the leader of the anti-German faction at the Russian court and there are those who see in his down fall the triumph of the Inner German clique that has been working through the Czar. It is plain that for many months the Grand Duke has been handicapped.

Correspondents who have come from Russia assert that several months ago the Czar wanted to make peace with Germany but that the Grand Duke warned him that the army would not consent to this.

As viceroy of the Caucasus the Grand Duke succeeds Count von Vorontsoff-Dashkoff, as the Czar explains on account of the failing health of the old viceroy.

WIDOW'S PLEA AS ADMINISTRATRIX OPPOSED BY SON

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 8. — Charles Manning Mohr, son by his first wife of the murdered Dr. C. Franklin Mohr, announced today that he will fight the petition of Mrs. Elizabeth Blair Mohr asking the courts to appoint her administratrix of her husband's estate.

Mrs. Mohr, who is held under bail on a charge of conspiring to bring about the murder of her husband, filed her petition for appointment through her attorney, Arthur Cushing, a day or two ago. Mr. Cushing at that time said he believed the appointment would not be contested.

Young Mohr today scattered this hope to the winds. "I shall oppose the appointment by every means in my power," he said.

This is taken as the prelude of a bitter fight over the doctor's estate, which is valued as high as half a million dollars. The doctor, apparently, left no will.

The work of making an inventory of the estate began in an all-day conference yesterday. Today, three automobiles full of people went to Newport to appraise the property at the villa "Montpelier" near there.

The party included Charles Manning Mohr, Mrs. Elizabeth Blair Mohr, Attorneys George Hurley, W. D. Roycroft, Philip Knauer, Arthur Cushing and William F. Carroll, and appraisers A. H. Tilton, Lester Hill, Jr., and William Candeld. The appraisers were sworn in before leaving Providence.

MISS BURGER WORSE.

A startling rumor just before the party left Providence was that Miss Emily Burger, the woman who was shot with the doctor when he was shot, and who was also wounded, had suffered a relapse. She has been kept in ignorance of the doctor's death, but her recovery was considered only a matter of time.

The State, meanwhile, is preparing to press for a swift trial in the case of those arrested after the doctor's death. The police made public today the stenographic report of the confession of the three negroes under arrest in the case.

Mrs. Mohr's attorneys are planning, meanwhile, a defence based on the claim that the three negroes plotted robbery, and that the murder was not a part of their original calculations.

The confessions of the three men, made public in a stenographic version today, centre on these points:

1—That Brown shot Dr. Mohr.
2—That Spellman shot Miss Burger.
3—That Healis stopped the automobile at the agreed spot where the shooting occurred.
4—That Mrs. Mohr had promised 15,000 to the three men for what they were to do, and that she guaranteed them protection.

Those who witnessed the confessions and the dramatic entry, at the eleventh hour, of the accused widow, were Police Commissioner Benjamin F. Moulton, Chief Inspector William F. O'Neil, Constable James Wallace of Barrington and Fred Mack, Providence correspondent of the Boston AMERICAN, who was the only newspaperman on the scene.

Here is exactly what occurred:

Chief Inspector O'Neil—Hurried to Rhode Island Hospital as soon as he heard of the shooting. Met Coroner George W. Healis, who brought the dying physician to the institution. Questioned Healis thirty minutes.

ARREST OF HEALIS.

Chief Thomas E. Robbins—Hearing of shooting in his district hurried to police headquarters in Providence for assistance. Found Captain of Inspectors George F. Monahan in charge. Captain Monahan telephoned to hospital to Chief O'Neil.

PLOT CONFESSIONS GIVEN OUT

Providence Police Move to Block Repudiation of Admissions by Accused Negroes.

Chief Inspector O'Neil—Advised Chief Robbins to place Healis under arrest after his examination of the chauffeur. Chief Robbins escorted Healis to the Barrington lockup at 11 o'clock, two hours and fifteen minutes after the shooting, which occurred at 8:45 p. m.

Chief Robbins—Told by chauffeur Healis in Barrington lockup that a man named Cecil Victor Brown was involved. Healis claimed he did not know Brown's address.

Chief Inspector O'Neil—Informed by Chief Robbins over the telephone that Healis implicated a negro named Brown. Asked to talk to Brown over the telephone. O'Neil cross examined Healis sharply getting several admissions where Brown could be located.

BROWN EXAMINED.

Chief O'Neil dispatched Captain Monahan, Inspectors Egan, Godfrey, Ellis and A'Hearn to Potter avenue, this city, where Healis said Brown could be found. Cecil Victor Brown, hostler for Dr. Mohr, found in bed with his half-brother, Henry W. Spellman, employed as chore man for the doctor, at Spellman's lodging on Early street.

Brown taken to headquarters.

Chief O'Neil—Examined Brown, who denied complicity. Chief O'Neil sent same inspectors, accompanied by AMERICAN correspondent, to Warren lockup for Healis, who had been transferred from the Barrington lockup.

Healis hurried to Providence in auto. Arrived at 4.30 and confronted Brown in Chief O'Neil's private office.

Chief O'Neil—Tell Brown, Healis, what you told me over the phone.

Chauffeur Healis—You know, Victor, I was going to get $2,000 for stopping the car last night at the bridge going to Nayatt, as we arranged Monday night in Newport.

DENIAL BY BROWN.

Cecil Victor Brown—"You're a liar, Healis! When you say that you are a liar."

Healis—"They got us and you may as well tell the truth, Victor."

Brown—"You can't put that over on me. I don't know what you are talking about. I wasn't there. I was in Riverside last night and can prove it by John Doherty. I was in Riverside all evening. (Turning to O'Neil) I can prove it if you send somebody to see Doherty."

Healis—"You might as well tell it all. Your brother Henry is in it, too."

Chief O'Neil—"Who's Henry?"

Healis—"Henry Spellman, his half-brother."

Chief O'Neil—"Where does Spellman live?"

Brown—"He was in bed when you got me."

Chief O'Neil stepped into the outer office and ordered inspectors to go to Early street for Spellman. He was brought to headquarters by Captain Monahan at 4.30. In the meantime Healis and Brown had been having a running conversation, not pertinent to the case, and swearing at each other. Brown was incensed at what Healis told Chief O'Neil.

Captain Monahan started for Riverside after turning Spellman over to Chief O'Neil.

Chief O'Neil—"Anything you say now will be used against you. You might as well tell the truth Brown."

Brown—"There's nothing for me to tell. I told you I was in Riverside. That's all I can say."

Chief O'Neil—"Are you in this too, Spellman?"

Spellman—"I suppose so. (Showing more concern than any of them. Brown was the most stoical of the three).

Healis—"Now, Victor, why not tell the whole business?"

Brown—"Well, we're in for it and I might as well tell it all." (To Riverside with himself before uttering these words and looked uneasy.)

IMPLICATES MRS. MOHR.

Brown—"There's somebody else in this besides us."

O'Neil—"Healis, tell what you know about it."

Healis — "Mrs. Mohr sent for me twice and told me she would give me $2,000 if I stopped the car Tuesday night where Victor told me to. She said I could open a garage with the money. I told her I did not want to do it, but she said I needn't be afraid, she would see that I was taken care of. She said she had friends among the police and judges of the county and stood in so well that no one would bother me.

"I met Victor Monday at Newport and he asked me if I talked with Mrs. Mohr. I said yes. He said if I would stop at the bridge on the Newport road on my way to the Bristol Ferry he would hold the doctor up and get his money. He said, 'you know the doctor has lots of money on the first of the month to pay the help with.' He will frighten hell out of him and get his money.' He told me he would give me half of what he got."

Chief O'Neil — "I will write what you said Healis and you may sign it."

Healis—"All right." (It was done).

TELLS OF MONEY PROMISE.

Brown—"Mrs. Mohr told me if I would kill the doctor and Miss Burger, but be sure and 'get' the doctor, she would give me $2,000. I told her my brother would help me, and she said she would give him $1,000. She said, 'You can arrange with George to stop the car at some place where there are no houses and no one would know the difference.'

"At first I did not want to do it, but she said, 'You needn't be afraid I have friends that will stick to me and nobody would dare to raise any trouble. The chief of police at Newport is a friend of mine and I have friends in the county.'"

Chief O'Neil—"What did she mean by friends in the court?"

Brown—"I don't know. She meant the fellows—what do you call them?"

Healis—"They bring you up to when you are arrested."

O'Neil—"Do you mean the judges?"

Brown—"Yes."

O'Neil—"Well, go ahead."

Brown—"She said, 'it will be easy for you. No one will know the difference. If you get arrested I will see you through.'"

TOLD OF SLAYING DOCTOR.

O'Neil—"Will you sign a statement to that effect?"

Brown—"Yes"—(he did).

Brown—"I told my half-brother, Henry Spellman, about it and we arranged to hold up the doctor Tuesday night. I talked with George Healis and he agreed to stop the car at the bridge. I told Henry to 'get' Miss Burger and I would shoot the doctor.

"Henry and I went to Nayatt on the motor-cycle that Mrs. Mohr gave me $100 to buy and left it in Riverside in the woods for George to come along. When the car stopped, George switched off the headlights three times, as agreed, Henry and I went behind the car and I shot the doctor twice.

"He was sitting on the right side of the back seat. I could see him as they passed. Henry fired three shots at Miss Burger."

O'Neil—"Then you are the one that murdered the doctor?"

Brown—"Yes" (very coolly).

SPELLMAN'S STORY.

Chief O'Neil—"Tell us your story Spellman."

Spellman—"Victor told me Mrs. Mohr would give me $1,000 if I helped him kill the doctor and get Miss Burger. What Victor said is the truth. I went with him and we waited for the doctor's car to come along. I fired three shots at Miss Burger.

"Victor told me she was in the car and the other one when she started to get out of the car. I know I hit the doctor with the first shot. George took her back in the car.

"We didn't stop to see any more but run through the woods across a small pond where we threw our guns in the lake. Victor climbed on the motor-cycle that we left about a mile away and I rode on the back to Riverside and took a car home. I went to bed and Victor came home a while after and that was got to sleep."

Then Captain Monahan returned from Riverside and told Chief O'Neil of his investigation.

Chief O'Neil told Captain Monahan to arrest Mrs. Mohr at 9 a. m., to go to No. 1 Reservoir avenue for Mrs. Mohr.

Captain Monahan returned at 8:25 with Mrs. Mohr, who was dressed in black with large picture hat and veil partly covering her face. When Mrs. Mohr arrived the circus was made up of Commissioner Edward F. Moulton, Chief O'Neil, Chief Robbins and Constable James Wallace, of Barrington, Captain Monahan, Inspectors Egan, Fred Mack of the AMERICAN, Mrs. Mohr and the three detectives.

Chief O'Neil—Read the three confessions to Mrs. Mohr and what each negro said in turn: "Is this your voluntary confession, and is it the truth, and did you sign this following the confession). Each answered "Yes."

MRS. MOHR MAKES DENIAL.

Mrs. Mohr sat in the centre of the room with the three prisoners on her left. She was quite but apparently self-possessed.

Chief O'Neil—What have you got to say, Mrs. Mohr?

Mrs. Mohr—It is not so. I never hired them to kill the doctor. Upon going to Bruns she said: "You know, Victor, you told me you were going to get square with the doctor, and I told you not to be foolish."

Brown—You gave me a hundred dollars to buy the motorcycle and what I said is so. You told me you would pay us the money in a few days when the property would be settled. You said you didn't know whether the doctor's children would get much or not, but you would take care of us if we got caught.

FREE WOMAN ON BAIL.

Mrs. Mohr made no reply. She was taken into the outer office and further questioned by Chief O'Neil. Mrs. Mohr and the three negroes were photographed for the rogues' gallery. It was then broad daylight. Newspapermen began to appear. The office was soon crowded.

Mrs. Mohr was placed in the custody of Constable Wallace, but was not put in a cell. Thirteen hours later Attorney Cushing produced the $10,000 bail and she was released at 7.30. She hurried home to make arrangements for the funeral of the husband whose assassination she is alleged to have plotted.

The commission ordered that such discrimination cease.

THINK MAN HELD IS EDWARDS

questioned by the police, but satisfied them that his disputes never assumed the proportions of quarrels.

Edwards is about twenty-two. Four months ago he married Mildred Reedy, sixteen, granddaughter of James Reedy, seventy-six. He was first brought to the attention of Judge Knowles by the complaints of mistreatment made to the Judge by the girl wife. Judge Knowles sent him warning at that time.

About a month and a half ago a series of breaks in the Summer cottages commenced. Empty cottages were broken into and rifled even of furniture. Several of these breaks were blamed on Edwards and Judge Knowles issued two warrants for his arrest.

In spite of the warrants, Edwards was not arrested. Judge Knowles several times urged the police of his district to bring in the man, who had been seen in the woods. It was generally understood that Edwards would be severely punished in Judge Knowles court if convicted.

A short time ago Edwards reappeared openly, after one of his dis-appearance. He talked with Mrs. Marshall Salisbury, whose husband was hunting companion of Judge Knowles.

"If our husband," Mrs. Salisbury says Edwards told her, "will not have Knowles to go hunting with before long." Other, more specific threats were also said to have been made against the Judge.

Last Saturday Edwards appeared at the Hoehler Dancing Casino on the lake shore, saying that he had been in Worcester, working in the Osgood & Bradley car shops. The Hoehler place is an eighth of a mile from Judge Knowles' home. Edwards slept there Sunday night.

On the night before the murder, Edwards was in the vicinity of the place where the shooting occurred. On the afternoon of the murder he appeared at his wife's home, two miles from Knowles' house.

Germany May Justify the Arabic Case

that an American member of the Hesperian's crew had perished.

Secretary of State Lansing announced today that he had received word from Consul Frost at Queenstown that an American named Wolf "May have been lost on the Hesperian."

DOUBT AS TO TORPEDO.

The facts so far submitted are far from establishing that it was a torpedo that sank the liner. Some naval experts insist that the story as cabled of the circumstances surrounding the explosion seem to indicate that the vessel struck a mine. It is because he has been notified of this belief that Secretary Lansing has cabled Consul Frost to get all of the facts available, and especially to have the captain and his officers amplify statements that were contained in their original affidavits which were received yesterday.

32 MISSING IN THE HESPERIAN WRECK ARE GIVEN UP AS LOST

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Two important developments in connection with the destruction of the Allan liner Hesperian indicate that the incident will hold the attention of the diplomatic circles in Washington, Berlin and London for some time. They are:

1—Admiralty by the Allan line that the steamer was armed and that the gun she carried had been painted gray in order to conceal it.

2—Press reports that T. J. Wolf, a native of New Jersey and an American citizen in the Hesperian's crew, perished as the result of the torpedoing of the Hesperian.

As was the case in the sinking of the Arabic the Hesperian's death list is increasing as the Allan line officials proceed with their investigation of the disaster. According to the latest available information at the Liverpool offices of the line, thirty-three persons, eleven passengers and twenty-two members of the crew perished. Only one body, that of Miss Ellen Carbonnery of St. Johns, N. F., has been recovered. All of the thirty-two now listed as missing have been given up for dead. Of the passengers listed as missing two were children, three women and four men.

The following list of passenger casualties is the latest official one issued:

Known dead:
Miss Ellen Carbonerry, St. Johns, N. F.

Missing:
Miss Ethel Bannister.
Joseph Fowler.
Mrs. H. Fowler.
Miss Emily Morrey.
Miss Mary A. Barr.
W. Cownley.
H. Campbell.
Child named Taylor.
Marie Jenkins, sixteen months old.
Unidentified soldier.
Wolff, the man said to be an American citizen, is listed among the missing sailors.

A Woman Going to California Alone or With Children

Every woman, I don't care how competent and independent she is, feels a little more at ease, when traveling alone, or with children, if she can rely on a responsible official, paid to look after her comfort and convenience.

That's a special feature of our "Personally Conducted" Parties to California.

Join one. It's the best way to travel, especially for women, if comfort, interest, safety and very moderate cost are to be taken into account. The cost of it all is surprisingly low.

If you will write, or drop in at the office, and see me, I will be glad to explain every detail of the famous "Personally Conducted" Parties.

12,000 PUPILS AT SCHOOL OPENING

No Increase Shown on Account of the European War.

Boston's public schools opened today. Approximately 112,000 children were on hand.

For the first time in many years the number of pupils did not show a big increase. This is due to the European war, which has not only greatly reduced immigration, but has actually sent many foreigners back to their own countries.

So well did Superintendent Dyer and the school committee have matters in hand that the opening day passed off with very little confusion.

300 Dorchester High pupils at the Sarah J. Baker School.

Great interest centred in the new High School of Commerce. There are only a few schools of this sort in the country, and the Boston one outclasses them all. It is just finished at a cost of $470,000, and accommodates 1,000. When it opened today practically its full quota of pupils was present.

One of the innovations of the school department this year is the opening of a new elementary school on Long Island for the use of the children of the soldiers garrisoning Boston harbor.

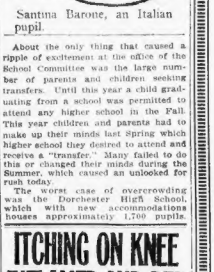
Various nationalities were represented among the entering pupils in the Boston schools today. Here is a group of Chinese pupils.

Naila Khoury, a little Syrian pupil.

It has been arranged to accommodate hitherto these children have attended the Eliot School at the North End. This was an expensive method of educating the children and moreover it was hard on the children, as it meant unusually early rising and a long daily boat trip on their part.

To obviate this the commanding officer has provided a school building furnished all complete. The city furnishes the teacher, who is Miss McNally. About forty small children, all of whom live at the forts, will be taught at this school.

Some crowding was occasioned in the West End through the failure of a new unnamed schoolhouse to be ready. This crowding will be overcome when the new building is finished later in the Fall.



Santina Barone, an Italian pupil.

About the only thing that caused a ripple of excitement at the office of the School Committee was the large number of parents and children seeking transfers. Until this year a child graduating from a school was permitted to attend any higher school in the Fall. This year children and parents had to make up their minds last Spring which higher school they desired to attend and receive a "transfer." Many failed to do this or changed their minds during the Summer, which caused an unlooked for rush today.

The worst case of overcrowding was the Dorchester High School, which with new accommodations houses approximately 1,700 pupils.

ITCHING ON KNEE INFLAMED AND RED

Grew Worse and Became an Eruption. Clothes Irritated Badly.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My trouble began with an itching and swelling on my knee. It grew worse and became an eruption that ran water. It began itching and a scaly substance came off when I scratched it. I scratched until I nearly took the skin off. My clothes irritated it badly and after a while it became all inflamed and red. It would not heal up with all I tried. I used salve and ——— salve but nothing helped it until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Then my knee healed up rapidly and is now as smooth as a baby's skin. It left no scar at all." After we are assured that the sanitary conditions under which the milk is produced are satisfactory and that the milking conditions are faultless, then we buy milk from that farmer and pay him a premium for clean milk. It is then shipped in sterilized cans provided by us and handled in a manner to avoid contamination in transit. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Unable to obtain financial aid after she had lost nearly all her savings while stopping at a hotel in Atlantic City, Mrs. Ethel Billings, a stylish young widow of Albany avenue, Hartford, Ct., came to this city and attempted suicide.

She was found unconscious by a park guard in Fairmount Park. The guard sent her to the Presbyterian Hospital, where she was revived. Her condition today is reported to be improved.

The young woman told an attending physician she determined to die when she found no one would come to her aid. She said she had gone to the seashore for a short vacation.

She said she had gone to a photographic studio in Atlantic City on Saturday to have her picture taken, and when she returned to the hotel her money was missing.

BARE CLASH IN CARPENTER FAMILY

An estrangement between Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Carpenter of Boston, Magnolia and Wolfeboro, N. H., was revealed today, following the sensational manner in which Mr. Carpenter took his eight-year-old boy, Ralph, Jr., from the mother's care at Magnolia and sped in a high-powered auto across the State line into New Hampshire.

Mrs. Carpenter followed frantically in a borrowed car, but gave up the chase at Manchester. A telephone message ahead caused the father's car to be held up at Dover, N. H., by the police. But Mr. Carpenter asserted his right to the boy and was allowed to proceed with the lad to his home at Wolfeboro.

Carpenter returned to Magnolia. Today she packed her goods at the North Shore resort for a hurried departure. It was thought she would return to the home of her parents in Boston. Question was raised today whether there would be any court action.

Mrs. Carpenter was shielded from interviewers today by a woman friend at Magnolia, who said:

"Mrs. Carpenter will see no one. She is busy packing. She will get away as soon as possible."

The wealth and social prominence on each side of the Carpenter family increased the quick public interest in the case.

Ralph G. Carpenter is a Stone School and Harvard man, played on his freshman football team, was on former Governor Bass' New Hampshire staff in 1911 and is now in the real estate business with his father, controlling valuable pieces of downtown property.

Mrs. Carpenter was formerly Miss Marguerite Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Paul of No. 362 Beacon street. This is in the Back Bay district close to the Brookline line.

Miss Paul was married to Mr. Carpenter in 1906, soon after Mr. Carpenter left Harvard. She came into the public eye in the Winter of 1910 by her kindness to Miss Hattie Le Blanc—since married—who was acquitted of the murder of Clarence F. Glover, the Waltham laundryman.

Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Melvin M. Johnson, wife of Hattie's lawyer, took Hattie on shopping trips.

In the story of her life, as dictated by Hattie Le Blanc to the Boston AMERICAN in December, 1910, there was a paragraph in Chapter VI., as follows:

"I think that I never had a better time in all my life than when Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Ralph Carpenter took me on shopping trips."

The kindness of Mrs. Carpenter made a deep impression on the storm-tossed Canadian girl.

William M. Paul, Mrs. Carpenter's father, is president of the Joseph F. Paul Company of No. 265 Albany street and director of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Mr. Carpenter is a native of Hillsboro, N. H., and a legal resident of and voter in the Granite State. But he has spent much time in Boston. He and his wife and boy lived at the Copley-Plaza Hotel last Winter and spring.

Just when trouble arose between the Carpenters is not stated. But early in the Summer Mrs. Carpenter went to Magnolia, taking "The Gables," a cottage managed by the Ocean Side Hotel.

George C. Dickson, her lawyer, said today that there was an estrangement, but he did not know why, and that Mr. Carpenter even wanted a separation agreement. Mr. Dickson added that Mrs. Carpenter refused to have one, saying there was no need of it.

Mr. Carpenter was reached on the long-distance telephone to his house at Wolfeboro, N. H., by the AMERICAN today. He was reluctant to talk, but did say:

"There was no kidnaping. I went down and took my own child and brought him to my own house for a while. We have equal rights in the boy. The boy is here now. There has been no legal separation. We are just living apart."

MRS. CARPENTER AND SON RALPH

BURBANK ASKS CANDIDATES' VIEWS

Charles E. Burbank of East Bridgewater, a Progressive party leader, has written an open letter addressed jointly to Samuel W. McCall and Grafton D. Cushing, asking them to commit themselves to a definite program on a constitutional convention, the short ballot, the budget system and biennial elections.

"I ask you," he writes, "each to declare to the public in detail what action you will take in case you are nominated and elected to put into effective operation these propositions."

The letter further asks:

"Will you urge such convention to make the changes in the present Constitution of the Commonwealth necessary to create a governmental organization by which the affairs of the State may be conducted in an economical, efficient, business-like manner?

"Will you urge that the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor be elected for a term of not less than two years; the Legislature for two years; that with the exception of the auditor the heads of the various executive departments be made appointive by the Governor and removable at his pleasure; that the Governor's Council as now constituted be abolished; that the executive heads of departments, including the auditor, constitute the Governor's cabinet or council; that the Legislature be made unicameral and its membership materially reduced; that the Governor and the heads of executive departments be ex-officio members of the legislative body for the purpose of presenting measures and advocating the same upon the floor, but without the power to vote; that all the measures presented by the Governor or the Executive Department which the Legislature fails to enact, and all measure which the Legislature shall pass over the veto of the Governor shall be referred to the people at the next ensuing regular election, or at a special election called at the request of the Governor for the purpose; that the Governor shall present as executive measures to the Legislature such measures or bills as he may be requested to offer by petition signed by not less than 10,000 voters of the Commonwealth."

Big Cut Price PIANO SALE

FOR FATHER AND MOTHER.

J. P. COLLINS
ROXBURY PIANO STORAGE SALESROOMS CO.

And she gets the Fine New Upright Piano that she has been longing for—just the same make that the piano dealer of the gilded warerooms had told her would cost $400. At the J. P. Collins sale she found the same identical make at a saving of $200. Beautiful, talented girls from the conservatories and colleges in Eastern Massachusetts are purchasing their pianos at a big saving in every case from J. P. Collins. They now know that it is no longer necessary to pay exorbitant prices for any make pianos—exclusive makers in particular are finding it hard to get the old high prices nowadays in view of the keen competition of the Collins cut-price sales, where the finest makes are sacrificed.

The American's Magazine and Fiction Page

Common Sense vs. Romance

The Experienced One Gives the Young Person Some Good Counsel

"BOB wants me to marry him," said the Pretty Young Girl, "and I don't know whether to say 'yes' or 'no.' Bob's everything that a man should be, honest and honorable, and energetic and intelligent, and tender and kind, and considerate, and crazy about me. He is one of the men that are sure to get on in the world, and if I marry him I'm likely to be one of those lucky American wives who are petted and coddled, and kept in pink cotton."

"But I don't know whether he's a habit with me, or a necessity. I don't know whether I love him or like him, and I don't know how to find out just where I stand, or how to take the temperature of my affection, and it's making him grouchy, and wearing me to skin and bones."

"What is your definition of love?" inquired the Older Woman, with a smile.

A YOUNG DEFINITION

"Oh," replied the Pretty Young Girl, "I guess it's a bunch of thrills wrapped up in pink chiffon. It's romance. It's some deep, dark, tempestuous emotion that tears your very soul in tatters.

"Now, as I said, I'm fond of Bob, but when I hear his footsteps I don't have a single palpitation of the heart. Neither do I feel myself grow hot and cold, and tremble at his approach. I like to talk to him, but I like to talk to other people, too, and have a perfectly good time when go out to parties to which he is not invited.

"It's because I haven't got any of the symptoms of love that people exhibit on the stage and in novels that makes me afraid to marry Bob. What if I should be taken with an acute attack of that tender passion for some other man after I married him?"

"Fiddlesticks," exclaimed the Older Woman, "I thought you had more sense. The stage and novels are no better guides in love than they are in business. They deal with pure imagination where the impossible happens. Somebody always comes along at the psychological moment and presents the poor, but noble hero, with a million dollars, or discovers he's the duke's long lost son, but that kind of thing doesn't happen in real life.

IN REAL LIFE

"And it's the same way about love. No sane, well balanced person ever has all the fits, and starts, and agues, and jubilations and despairs that the heroes and heroines of books and plays exhibit when they are in love. If you felt that way you would be a poor neurotic creature, a fit subject for an alienist, and not a candidate for matrimony. So if you are waiting to experience all the wild romantic thrills that Lady Gwendolyn does when she meets Sir Percival, it's the spinster's retreat for yours.

"You will never have them. You are too healthy and wholesome to have them, and it's a pity that you, and hundreds of other girls like you, throw away the solid substance of a good, honest affection for the shadow of an impossible dream.

"It's nothing short of a crime that girls get their ideas of love from silly novels and plays, and that they expect not only the impossible from men but from themselves. They look at everything else practically, but when it comes to the great decision of their lives they are guided by the vision of a poet or dreamer, whose judgment they wouldn't trust on the buying of a calico frock.

"Believe me, my child, romantic love is a nice thing to read about, but a poor thing to tie to. If you will observe you will see that the people who exploit it most get the most divorces.

ROMANCE AND PROSE

"And the reason for this is as plain as the nose on the face. It is impossible for romance to endure in the prosaic atmosphere of everyday life. You can't cherish any illusions about the individual with whom you live in the close quarters of domestic life, and whom you see sick and tired, and hungry and cross, and before he shaves, and she takes down her curl papers and puts on her complexion.

"Under the fierce light of domesticity romance just curls up and dies, and it's because it's so short lived, at the best, that it isn't worth figuring on. After the honeymoon is over the thrilliest person doesn't thrill, nor the most idealistic goddess of goddesses in the one he or she has married, so it's folly to lay undue emphasis on symptoms of heart trouble for which matrimony is such a quick sure cure.

"But there is an affection that does last. It may not have any frills to it, but it's built on the solid rock against which the years and daily association beat in vain. It's the same, sensible affection that is founded on respect, and congeniality of taste, and trust, and real friendship and comradeship between a man and a woman.

"That's the only kind of love that's safe to marry on, and if you feel that way about a man you needn't search your system to find out whether you thrill or not. You've got the only genuine brown-bottle-glass brand of love, that's guaranteed to be divorce proof."

"I guess I'll say 'yes' to Bob," said the Pretty Young Girl.

Rarest Thing in the World

True Friendship Heareth All Things and Holds Fast to Faith

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THE object of love is to win; the object of friendship is to serve. So friendship is often more daring than love and may proceed upon a less selfish foundation.

Friendship belongs to the same lineage with loyalty and devotion. It is based on principles of honest choosing of the best in life and it never closes its eyes blindly to facts. It asks in the real interests of the person for whom it cares. It gives, and forgets the gift. It trusts, and is worthy of trust in return.

Perhaps in all the world there is nothing more rare than real friendship. Many of us call friendship what is merely a congenial companionship taken up for selfish reasons; perhaps to avoid loneliness, perhaps to have an audience for our own cleverness, perhaps to have strength on which to lean. But such so-called friendships inevitably prove their own weakness because they cannot stand the test of time or hardship.

Sometime one broken hour casts asunder two people who have called themselves friends. Laughter and tears enjoyed and endured together are forgotten. Services generously accepted and generously offered no longer count.

A MATTER OF INSTINCT

No sense of obligation can ever play a part in a real friendship, no sense of failure at a given moment can count. If you have no instinctive feeling that the friend who has always been loyal will always be loyal, if you are not loyal to that feeling, you are not a friend.

And so, if you come to one weak link in long years of loving, and if for that one weak link you doubt what lies behind and fear what stretches ahead, if that one weak link can snap your chain of friendship asunder, it was never a real friendship.

Friendship knows magic faith. If the thing your friend does is not exactly what you would have had him do, still must the links of your chain be intact. If you are really a friend, you can accept the broken hour with a feeling that it must be right because your friend meant it to be so—or you can go honestly and fearlessly and ask for an explanation of the thing that you fail to quite understand.

In the most ideal state, friendship should always be able to take for granted and should never need explanation. But even without this perfection, it still should allow generously for differences in personality and individuality.

THE TRUST

If you cannot trust, even in the face of adverse evidence; if you cannot go on living across walls of silence; if you cannot surmount any misunderstanding and accept little unpleasantnesses as untoward events that count for nothing in the fabric of your affection, you are not a real friend.

Friendship gives generously and never talks about its rights and privileges and what it has done. It has no false pride, but just a supreme generosity that values its own feeling for what there is in it, and would be ashamed to calculate what could be gotten out of it.

Friendship—true friendship is the supreme gift of kindly liking and understanding.

If friendship is yours—cherish it.

Not Very Likely

"Didn't Oliver Goldsmith once live here?" asked the tourist.

"I don't remember the name," said the landlady. "Who was the gent?"

"He was a poet."

"Then it's hardly like that he ever lived here, sir. We always demand the rent in advance."

"Old Flames"

No. 4—MARY

By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1913, by International News Service

IN the fourth candle of my flames glows the face of Mary. MARY!

There is a name! Ivy and Ruth were blurred in my mind when the first years of high school came, and with them Mary. Here I was leaping ahead into the years —as a man's mind leaps ahead of him as he writes on the typewriter. I remembered nothing. I dreamed ahead.

Now—NOW—I am looking back —and wishing again for Ivy and the days of my old straw hat. Then—I was wearing my first long trousers and dreaming of top-hats. Mary came—golden of hair—real gold.

Her eyes were brown—velvet brown. And Mary's manner was as soft and velvety as her eyes. She had a thrilly laugh. I was fifteen then—and Mary was, too. She in school far across the room from me—and I watched her golden head the first day and wondered shamedly if ever she might walk home with me. She wore little gray frocks—with red velvet on them. And her cheeks were like peaches—almost tea-rose pink.

I carried home her books one day—and my heart beat in my throat like a fist there when her curls bobbed against my shoulder and the rustle of her skirts brushed me by. She walked with little steps and a swing to her soft shoulders that was a delight. She had an enchanting little habit of lifting her brows in the middle and crinkling her nose. I teased her, I remember, to call up this trick. She was "strong on" science—and could draw crabs and grasshoppers in her notebook with a shine to their backs that left me stunned with admiration! So with my science she helped me—her gold head bent thrillingly close to mine.

I never kissed Mary. No. But sometimes—my mind almost thought of the wonder of ever doing it—and then veered away in scared fashion. She it was who dragged me through science many a time when I teetered on the anguishing brink between a flunk and a passing mark—and gave me the little push that helped me to fall on the right side. I who was a master mathematician proved the hypothesis of things to her bewildered little brain.

I took her to the school dances. And she went in pink and blue fluffy things that I had to be very careful of. For I still had boy ties. I carried her slipper bag. And I suspect—I know that at these state affairs she put talcum powder on her small nose.

Here came to me—the first soft lure of feminine ways and feminine things, and the belief in them. The soft face at throat and elbows—the satin sheen of her girdles—the tucking in of her adorable chin like a bird's soft breast—the bows on her slippers—the tiny fan she carried and flirted softly.

My growing heart was enchanted with the wonder of Mary, who was a girl-girl! And here I first touched hands and cared to help a girl across rough places.

Here I first eyed and pondered on Mary's smooth hands—her thin pink nails like bits of satin feld-spar—and approved of beauty and daintiness. Ivy's hands had been brown. BROWN! And I hadn't cared. Now there were distinctly boy-hands and girl-hands—and mine look mighty big! Mary shines in the fourth candle of my flames—the FOURTH—but Mary was the first glow of the mysterious starshine that woman means in man's cloudy sky.

No. Mary didn't move away. I came East to college. I wrote to Mary—for a long time. And then —MARY MARRIED!

—NELL BRINKLEY.

Makes the Eyes Clear, White and Beautiful.

If your eyes ever get bloodshot and yellow you can clear them up in half a minute and make them bright and sparkling by dropping a single drop of pure liquid oxalite in each eye. It's wonderful how quickly this prescription works and its use is entirely safe as it contains no cocaine, belladonna or harmful drugs of any kind or boracic acid, and it cannot possibly smart or injure the eyes. This prescription is fine to use before going out in the evening to make the eyes clear and white. Ricker-Jaynes and leading druggists everywhere have it put up and ready for use. A great many leading eye specialists endorse and recommend this same prescription and use it in their own practice.—Advertisement.

The Story of a Doctor's Wife

Told by the Wife Herself

Connie and Peter Have a Row Over Marian, Who Leaves Her Husband

PETER came back from the telephone with a very grave expression darkening his face.

"That was Jimmie Farley • • • Marian has come home. She's ill. It sounds as if she had left Blake for good. Poor girl! She wants me, so I'll have to cut the hospital this morning and run right over."

"Peter! You never cut the hospital for any cause!" I gasped.

"No, not for any ordinary reason. But when my old friend Marian Farley comes home desperately ill and Jim phones for me, I conclude even staff physicians are justified in acting like mortal men • • • Poor little Maidie! Your friend Blake must be a pretty bad sort. • • • Jim says she has the grippe, a bad case, and is a nervous wreck. Jove! I'd like to get my hands on Blake."

"Peter! I went to school with Harvey Blake—he was always the dearest, kindest boy—not particularly magnetic, not charming, perhaps, but fine and good. He wouldn't hurt any woman. Perhaps Marian just didn't care enough. Perhaps he failed her—but he never was a brute. I know that."

"Oh, wise young judge!" laughed Peter. "Maybe you're right, dear. But whatever it is, little Maidie has found life tragically disappointing and we must help her."

And then I said a foolish thing—a thing to which I tried stubbornly to be loyal—a thing that has affected the course of my life.

"I suppose you will stand by Maidie, as you call her. Well, I shall do the same by Harvey. He was my friend for years—just as she was yours. You help her. If he needs me as a friend, I shan't fail him."

A TEST OF WILLS

Peter looked at me coldly. "Marian Farley married your friend Blake—and comes home disillusioned before six months are up. She is your husband's friend, sister of his life-long chum. She is a woman, needing the understanding sympathy of other women—and you calmly array yourself against your husband's wishes and your own sex and announce that you intend standing by a man you knew when you were a child and haven't seen a dozen times in the years since you came to womanhood. Surely, Connie, you see the absurdity of your attitude."

"If Harvey needs me, I shall be loyal," I said primly and with a feeling of righteousness and martyrdom.

So many women take a foolish stand against the interest and wishes of the man they love. And it is generally on some point that means little to either except as a test of power. Perfect love should say, "Thy people shall be my people." Peter wanted me to stand by Marian because she was his friend. But she was the woman in Peter's life of whom I had been tangibly jealous before she married my old friend and ex-suitor—and though I had no interest at all in Harvey, I ranged myself on his side before I heard the evidence. I knew I was stubborn and absurd—but I had to cling to my own folly—it seemed to me I was taking the only dignified and fair attitude.

It turned out that Marian had rushed into a marriage based on a quick-flaring, quick-dying infatuation. In her splendid, tenacious vitality she had borne Harvey to emotional heights where his plodding unimaginative nature did not belong and could not long stay. He could not understand her craving for love and the constant expression thereof. To him marriage was a partnership. They irritated each other and the man grew morose and sullen and so mean and cold.

Marian starved and froze and grew to hate the man she had married. She was lonely in Chicago. She missed her home-ties and interests. She had no one to whom she could talk, no one to act as a safety valve.

Her bitterness and disappointment turned in on her own nature and corroded it. Life seemed to her an empty husk. Grippe pulled down her physical vitality—her mental strength had weakened by too constant thinking of herself. And so Marian Farley came home a nervous wreck and Peter "took the case."

Marian had always been fond of my husband. And now her health—her very sanity depended on him. What more natural than that she should begin to love him with all the starved intensity of the nature Harvey had failed. And her pathetic dependence attracted Peter. That could not be denied either.

Then Harvey came to New York and phoned and asked to see me. I knew he would not be a welcome guest in Peter's house; but Peter was making his round of calls, and I knew that the last and longest would take him to Marian's side. I pictured her wide-eyed and lovely in her orchid colored negligee—and in a flare of bitter jealousy I asked Harvey to come at four and have tea with me.

"I don't believe she ever loved me, Connie," said Harvey sadly, when he had poured out his story of his inability to do a thing that seemed to please his wife. "I think she married me on the rebound from some man she wanted and couldn't have."

My heart thudded. I knew too well that Marian Farley had indulged in a long interview with Peter just a few days before her engagement was announced.

In the midst of Harvey's tale of misunderstandings and growing indifference to the woman he could find no way to please, Peter walked in—and ordered Harvey from the house.

When my poor friend had stumbled out Peter turned on me. "You'll never see him again, Connie—do you hear me? That man's part fool, part brute, and part miser. As a doctor I know more about him than I care to tell even my wife. But this I do tell you: I forbid you to see him again."

THE RETORT FURIOUS.

I whirled on Peter. "And this I tell you, Marian Farley has made his life pretty hideous. She never loved him—she married him because she loved another man—and couldn't get him. She just about ruined poor Harvey's life trying selfishly to patch up her own. I—I think it was you she loved all the time."

Peter's face went scarlet and then slowly it paled. "We won't talk about that, Connie. But since you think it, isn't that an indication to you that we, who are so happy, ought to be willing to help poor Marian?"

"And poor Harvey?" I asked with a fine attempt at lightness. "What of him? I'm to help the woman who loves my husband—and to help hurt her husband. Why didn't you marry her if her happiness was so much to you? You hurt her once. What can you do now but hurt her more? Stop the case, Peter. Tell them to get another doctor. I'll never see Harvey again."

Peter—will you, dear?"

Peter looked at me steadily. It is a bitter moment for a woman when she first sees deliberate and unfavorable criticism in her husband's eyes. "I will not drop the case. I can assure Harvey's safety—and when she sues for divorce, I shall go on the stand for her. Do you think it wise for me to be arrested in being friendly with her husband?"

I knew I was hysterical. I knew I ought not to answer now. I knew I ought to go away and think calmly until I could look at the thing through his eyes. But I wanted the relief of speech. My stubborn pride held me. And I fairly snarled: "I won't give up Harvey. He's my friend—and that's all she ought to be to you! But I think you love her. . . I wonder why you didn't marry her."

Then I began to sob. And as my husband went out I thought I heard above the sound of the slamming door and my own tears, "I wish I had."

So I went to the telephone and called a hotel where Harvey Blake was staying. And I made an appointment to lunch with him the next day at the Ritz-Carlton. All my life I shall wish I had not gone to keep that appointment.

(The next installment of this interesting story will appear soon.)

PRESIDENT TAKES PERSONAL CHARGE OF THE DUMBA AFFAIR

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—President Wilson today assumed personal direction of the administration's handling of the complications which have arisen through the activity of Dr. Constantine Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, in endeavoring to prevent delivery of American manufactured munitions to the allies.

The question has broadened so that the issues involved are now vital as affecting the friendly relations existing between the two governments. It is no longer merely whether Dr. Dumba was over zealous.

He has taken the position that he was carrying out instructions from his home government in seeking to prevent Austro-Hungarian citizens from manufacturing more munitions for Austrian enemies. And in making that statement the Ambassador has brought up for the administration's consideration the general activity of all of the belligerents' diplomatic representatives in this country.

After President Wilson had glanced over the memorandum submitted by Secretary Lansing following his conference of last night with Dr. Dumba the President began an examination of precedents bearing on the situation. Shortly afterwards he left the White House via the engine room basement of the executive offices and went directly to the Secretary of State's office of the State, War and Navy building. This was the second time the President had visited the State Department since his inauguration.

He was closeted with Secretary Lansing for half an hour. On emerging he dealt jocularly with his visit and declared that Secretary Lansing would attend to the details of the Dumba incident, but made it plain that he himself would shape the final decision.

A ROXBURY LADY SURELY SUFFERED

Mrs. Clara Callahan of No. 53 Reading St. Now Praises Plant Juice.

"The medical fraternity as a rule recognize that 25 per cent. of city dwellers of the present day find life a burden, and have little real happiness," said the Plant Juice Man, who has his headquarters at the Liggett Drug Co.'s Store, corner of Washington and Avon Streets. Continuing, he said: "And 90 per cent. of this nervous debility is caused from stomach trouble. The hustle and worry incident to city life is a strain that tells on the average man and woman, bringing with it nervous debility that in time becomes chronic. Tired, worn out, half-sick men and women are numerous in all large cities. They have uncertain appetites, poor digestion and little ambition. Their nervous state is such that they imagine themselves afflicted with various diseases, at different times, when, in fact, their whole trouble is nothing but the symptoms of a deranged stomach, produced by the life they lead."

Daily local people are coming forward with statements relative to the benefit they have derived from the use of Plant Juice, in cases of stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Recently the signed testimonial was received from Mrs. Clara Callahan, who resides at No. 53 Reading Street, Roxbury, and is a well-known and popular lady. She says:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia, backaches and headaches for the past two years. My food fermented in my stomach, causing gas and a heavy, bloated and painful condition, with pains all over my body. I could not eat any meats, potatoes or vegetables and could scarcely keep anything in my stomach. I was restless and nervous and could not sleep at night. I had a coated tongue, sallow skin and no appetite, and would get up in the morning just as tired as when I went to bed. I read about your Plant Juice in the papers and have been taking it for about 30 days and feel like a new woman; have a fine appetite, can eat any kind of food, nervousness is all gone, and have no more aches or pains and sleep all the night through. Plant Juice has certainly cured me all right."—Advertisement.

Dennis E. Reardon Is Freed by Court on Larceny Charge

Representative Dennis F. Reardon of Ward 19, Roxbury, appeared before Judge Hayden in the Roxbury court today to answer to a charge of larceny of $50 from the Standard Accident Insurance Company of Detroit. He was found not guilty and the case discharged.

In July Reardon was summoned to appear in court to answer to the charge, and since then the case has been continued from time to time. According to the evidence Representative Reardon was employed by the insurance company as collector, and the company charged him with larceny of some of the funds that he had collected. He was represented in court today by Attorney Francis M. Costello.

Reardon is a candidate for re-election to the House of Representatives.

HOW BOY WON IN RACE FOR LIFE OVER BRIDGE

How he won his race with death across the Lyman Pond railroad bridge in Waltham in front of a Boston & Maine express train was today told by 13-year-old Norman Duggan of No. 28 Fiske street, Waltham. In the race to beat the train over the bridge, Gerald Carr, 15, of No. 5 Summit street, Waltham, was killed, and young Duggan's 11-year-old brother, Kenneth, was badly injured.

This is Norman Duggan's story:

"Kenneth, Gerald and I had our last swim of the season in the pond, for we were to enter the Waltham High School today and that was our last chance. After taking our swim we dressed and walked onto the bridge.

"On the bridge we stopped awhile to watch the other boys who were still in the water. Suddenly I heard one of the boys below shout for us to jump. I quickly turned around and saw the train at the end of the bridge, less than fifty yards away.

"I thought I had time to run to the other side ahead of the train. I started and shouted to Kenneth and Gerald to follow me. It was hard to keep from stumbling, and as soon as I felt my feet on the other bank I jumped down the steep embankment.

"As I did so, the train whizzed by and it was a few seconds before I could believe that I was not hurt. I then crawled up the embankment and ran back to the bridge. Gerald had been instantly killed and his body was lying on the track. Kenneth lay between the outer rail and the edge of the bridge, and at first I thought he, too, had been killed."

Appeals $500 Fine in Larceny Case

On the charge of the larceny of an automobile, said to be the property of the Chalmers Motor Car Company, Edward J. Welch of Commonwealth avenue, Allston, appeared before Judge Hayden in the Roxbury Court today on continuance from last week.

The plea of not guilty which was entered by Welch at the last hearing was withdrawn and a plea of guilty substituted. Judge Hayden imposed a fine of $500. He appealed and was held in $500 for the Superior Court.

Russ Continued on Murder Charge

Oscar Russ of No. 178 Centre street, Roxbury, charged with the murder of his wife, Emily, August 23, appeared in the Roxbury Court today before Judge Hayden. Sergeant Mullen of the Roxbury Crossing Station, the complainant in the case, asked for a further continuance of the case, and it was put over until September 15. Russ being held without bail. This action was taken, it is thought, to see what will be done about the case by the Grand Jury, which comes in on Saturday next.

Joyce to Open Campaign Tonight

Thomas M. Joyce, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the House of Representatives from Ward 17, opens his speaking campaign tonight at Forest street and Mount Pleasant avenue, a stone's throw from Mayor Curley's Tammany club. Joyce is an anti-Curley candidate. John L. Fitzgerald, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council, will be among the speakers.

MAYOR AWAITS PLAY COMPLAINT BEFORE ACTING

Mayor Curley has his official eye upon "The Song of Songs" at the Tremont Theatre and is "watchfully waiting" for somebody to make a complaint against the play. If such complaint comes, the Mayor will call a special meeting of the Board of Censorship, of which he is chairman.

License Clerk John Casey has reported the play unobjectionable.

Mrs. Anna T. Steinauer read the manuscript and marked twenty passages she questioned.

But the Mayor, desiring not to be hasty, is waiting for any bona fide outside complaint.

"The Song of Songs" had its Boston opening Labor Day afternoon. It is a five-act play by Edward Sheldon, based upon the celebrated German novel of the same name by Hermann Sudermann.

The original Suderman book has been described as "a psychological study of feminine frailty."

The Board of Censorship, created by the last Legislature, is composed of the Mayor, as chairman, Police Commissioner O'Meara and Chief Justice Holzer of the city court. License Clerk Casey is secretary to the board. Casey saw "The Song of Songs" as the Mayor's order and gave it a clean bill.

The Mayor, however, sent to the management for a copy of the manuscript of the play. He read it, then submitted it to Mrs. Anna T. Steinauer, assistant to License Clerk Casey. Mrs. Steinauer is the member of the Mayor's staff who is detailed to watch dance halls and moving picture houses to judge them from a woman's standpoint.

Mrs. Steinauer read the manuscript and returned it today to the Mayor, with marginal notes on 26 pages. These passages she holds are objectionable, some of them highly so.

The Mayor said today:

"I am considering Mrs. Steinauer's report, with a view to calling a special meeting of the Board of Censors, if any citizen lodges a complaint with me against the play.

"I don't want to take hasty action in this matter, neither do I wish to have the Board of Censors used to advertise this play. In the past I know of a number of instances where the management of different plays, acting through a third party, have raised a hue and cry against their own productions, merely for the free advertising it would give them. In this case I shall wait until I have

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires a constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear, which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease is driven down into the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula, which is used extensively in the damp English climate, is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions:

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improves as the inflammation to the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint is used in this way as it acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a silent tonic action that facilitates the recovery of the patient. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Those desiring quick relief should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

GIRLS TO ENTER AMERICAN'S BIG SWIM

Swimming girls, your attention, please! This year the AMERICAN is to conduct its swimming carnival, as heretofore, in Charles River Basin, Saturday. That means there is only a short time in which to get your names listed as contestants with the Swimming Editor. Get busy, girls, and get into the swim; the water is fine.

Bronzed by a hot sun and frequent bathing in the briny deep, the Swimming Editor is on the job, and he wants girls who contested in previous swimming carnivals to present themselves, along with those who have not, at the Union Boat Club house feat in the Charles River Basin and to show their ability as swimmers. The starting time is 2 p. m.

All you've got to do, girls, is to write your name and residence on a slip of paper and mail it to the Swimming Editor, Boston AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston; and, girls, DO IT NOW and insure against mistakes later on when the entries are closed.

The carnival promises to be the greatest ever. Nothing has been left undone. There were 116 entries last year. The possibility is that the entries will exceed that number this year. Five prizes will be awarded.

At the recent conference of Governors in this State many of them were afforded an opportunity of visiting the Charles River Esplanade, and those who acted as pilots showed the visiting Governors the AMERICAN swimming race course. Several Governors remarked what a beautiful spot it was for a swimming race.

That the carnival is leading with earnest and widespread discussion in swimming circles is evidenced by the number of letters received by the Swimming Editor concerning the affair. One reads:

"My Dear Mr. Swimming Editor—The girls who take part in the South Boston swims at the L street bathhouse are loud in their praise of this great contest. I assure you that South Boston will show the girls from Revere, Beachmont, Roxbury, and especially that crowd of girls from Tenean Beach, that one of our number will be No. 1 this year and supplant the Dorchester crowd in this great swim.

M. M."

Another letter is from a girl connected with the Brookline Swimming Girls' Club. It reads:

"Dear Mr. Swimming Editor—Two years ago I entered the swimming carnival conducted by the Boston AMERICAN in the Charles River Basin. I expect to give a good account of myself in the coming swim

"NELLIE PULANSKI.

"Jamaica Plain."

The start will be from the Metropolitan Park Commission float, on the Boston side, opposite the Union Boat Club house. The stake boat will be moored upstream, and the swimmers will pass on the right of the boat and return to the float.

The Metropolitan Park Commission has given its consent to the event. Lieutenant Albert Chapman will be in charge of the Metropolitan Police detail Maffit Flaherty, as in previous years, will head the life savers who will be on hand. There will also be a Red Cross tent, as usual.

Swimmers will come from Tenean Beach, Wood Island Park, Jamaica Plain Swimming Club, Noddle Island and all the other localities where the Boston girls who make the best girl swimmers in the world learn the art.

Enter the race if you're a swimmer. If you're not, come anyhow and see the fun. You won't be sorry. The Swimming Editor will try to see to that.

Maine Fisheries to Be Protected

Protection for fisheries by destroying the natural enemies of edible fish—sharks and dogfish—is the aim of a State commission appointed by Governor Curtis of Maine. The commission's plan contemplates extermination of these "wolves of the deep," and the use of the carcasses for fertilizer.

100 Autos Burned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—One hundred automobiles were consumed by fire early today, a $150,000 garage with a frontage of a block was destroyed, three firemen and a garage superintendent were hurt and fifty-six horses were stampeded, all because an automobile truck backfired and the sparks blew up its gasolene tank.

MOTOR NOTES

By J. C. KERRISON.

Never in all motoring history have the Massachusetts roads been frequented by as great a number of foreign cars as has been the case this year, and particularly is this true of the last two or three weeks. By foreign cars is meant cars registered in States other than Massachusetts and not cars of foreign construction. The touring this year has been exceptionally great, and from all sections of New England come stories of record number of tourists.

The Cape district, which for several years has been somewhat slighted, has come into its own as a touring field, and well it might when one stops to consider the excellent roads and magnificent scenery that is to be found all along the Cape.

John Dowling of the Charles Motor Company demonstrating corps enjoyed a pretty speedy trip to New York and return over the holiday. Accompanied by four friends he drove the Briscoe five-passenger car to New York by Springfield and New Haven in nine hours, the speedometer clocking 378 miles. The return was made at a thirty-mile-an-hour average. The car was in excellent condition at the finish of the run. Mr. Dowling says that he used twelve gallons of gas on the outward trip.

The Narragansett Park Speedway officials have invited Miss Catheryn Dahlgreen to use the asphalt automobile track at Narragansett Park to try the speed of her little racing machine. Miss Dahlgreen, it will be remembered, is the young lady anxious to try the speed of her car and her generalship against the motorcycle and generalship of George E. Turner, Jr.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were stronger in the last hour in New York. War order issues were the most active and showed the largest gains. Rails were irregular, but their gains or losses did not average much. The strength of Western Union was due to an increase in its quarterly dividend rate from 1 to 1¼ per cent. Gains at 2:15 included American Can ¾, U. S. Steel ½, Bethlehem 11, Crucible 5, Baldwin ½, General Motors 4, Studebaker 1¾, Westinghouse ½, Willys-Overland ¾, Western Union 1¾, Tennessee Copper 2½, Utah ¾, Union Pacific ¼, St. Paul ¼, N. Y. Central ¼ and Chesapeake & Ohio ½.

Among declines were Anaconda ½, Chino ¾, Canadian Pacific 1, Lehigh Valley 1, New Haven ½, Northern Pacific ½, Reading ¾, Southern Pacific ¼, Colorado Fuel ¾, Pressed Steel ¼ and Rock Island ¼.

In Boston Butte & Superior was up 2, American Zinc ¾, Tennessee ½, Copper Range 1¾, Shoe Machinery ⅛, Alaska Gold ¾ and Atlantic Gulf preferred ¼. Declines included Granby ⅜, Mohawk 1, Wolverine, ex-dividend, 1½, Quincy 1, Atlantic Gulf common ⅜, United Fruit ¼ and New Haven ⅛.

The advance of stocks towards the close was attributed to the publication of government crop report from Washington.

Opening on a little higher level stocks soon reacted and after a period of irregularity the majority showed losses. Railroads and coppers were weak as a rule, while war order issues were the strongest class. Trading was of moderate volume. By afternoon the list in general had made some recovery and a number of issues were at their highest for the day.

Bethlehem sold above 500. General Motors sold at its highest record price and Western Union at its highest in three years. One explanation of the dullness of the New York market is that traders are waiting to learn what trend international affairs will take. The sinking of the Hesperian did not appear to be regarded as a serious factor in itself. The gold from London just received in New York amounted to $19,465,000, a far smaller amount than had been estimated. No information is at hand as to the amount of American securities shipped with it. But fear that a large amount of foreign owned railway shares may be liquidated had a bearish influence upon trade. The financial envoys of Britain and France who are coming to arrange for a loan may arrive on the steamship Lapland tomorrow. Foreign exchange weakened. At the opening demand sterling was quoted at 4.62½ and cables at 4.63¾, a decline of 3⅛ and 3⅜ respectively so far this week.

The Boston market opened as dull as ever, but had a firmer tone. The recession in New York was reflected locally. Atlantic Gulf preferred was a strong issue here. Gulf common was weak. Zincs were irregular. Trading in them and copper shares was light. Leading copper interests are still asking eighteen cents a pound for electrolytic and smaller interests are shading that figure. Foreign and domestic buying is niggardly. Demand for spelter is slack. There is enough for lead to keep its price fairly firm. In London spot copper and futures advanced £2 10s. Electrolytic was unchanged. So was spelter. Lead was up 1s 3d. Old Dominion, of Me., the holding company, has declared a quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share. Three months ago the dividend was $1.

APPOINTMENTS MADE BY THE GOVERNOR

Governor Walsh today sent sixteen appointments to the Executive Council. The most important included the following:

Charles A. Russell of Gloucester to be a member of the Public Service Commission in the place of Clinton White, who retired in July.

Mrs. George S. Ladd of Sturbridge to the State Board of Agriculture—the first woman appointed to the board.

A. Lincoln Filene to be a member of the State Board of Education.

John T. Wheelwright of Boston, to be a member of the Public Health Council to place of Professor Milton J. Rosenau, resigned.

Lombard Williams, to the Board of Port Directors, reappointed.

Francis T. Estey of Boston, to the Ballot Law Commission.

Charles E. Ward of Buckland, to the State Board of Insanity, reappointed.

John E. Swift, to the special commission to codify the highway laws.

Izzie Lapiante, to be a member of the Police Board of Fall River.

Judd Dewey of Boston, to be a member of the Board of Appeal for Fire Insurance rates.

Following a hearing the council voted to commute to 18 years the life sentence to State Prison imposed on Louis Bitzer, a former jeweller of Greenfield, on a charge of murder in the second degree. The commutation, which was favored by the Board of Parole, makes Bitzer immediately eligible for parole.

Bitzer was convicted on a charge of shooting Miss Ida May Colombe, a clerk in his employ, a nthis five-year-old son.

Campmates Bearers at Boy's Funeral

Ten campmates who were present when he was drowned at Lake Boone, Sunday, were pall bearers today at the funeral of Thomas F. Muldoon, son of James J. Muldoon of the Metropolitan Moulding & Messenger Company. The funeral was held at St. Joseph's Church, Somerville. The bearers were Edward J. Shields, Daniel Brennan, Stephen Brennan, Charles McGann, Charles Gridley, William F. York, William Crimmins, William Plotner, Frank Dooling, Jr., and Arthur McIntyre.

Commission Rejects Civil War Veteran

The Civil Service Commission today approved the appointment of three new fire lieutenants, but declined to approve the appointment as lieutenant of George M. F. Getchell, the only Civil War veteran in the department, and who stood No. 1 on the Commission's list for promotion. Getchell's promotion was turned down on the ground that he could not pass the physical test. The three successful men were Daniel W. Baker, Ladder 8; William Peterson, Ladder 3, and John F. Corea, of Engine 12.

Child Falls From Window.

Chester Kusatosky, three years old, fell from a window at his home, No. 63 Broadway, Chelsea, this afternoon today, and sustained severe injuries to head and body. He was taken to the Frost Hospital.

Save Aged Woman Overcome by Gas

Mrs. Mary A. Smith, eighty-six, of No. 416 Washington avenue, Chelsea, was found unconscious in her home today from gas poisoning. She was revived by use of the police pulmotor. She was taken to the Lafayette Hospital. It is supposed she accidentally brushed against her gas stove and turned the gas on.

Cotton Men Gather.

NEW LONDON, Ct., Sept. 8.—Cotton manufacturers are already gathering here for the semi-annual meeting of their national association, which opens tomorrow at the Hotel Griswold.

Part of Wrecked Motor Boat Found

The Boston police boat Watchman picked up off Commercial wharf, early today the forward half of a motor launch which evidently had been cut in two in a collision. The half which floated toward Commercial wharf comprised the bow and part of the deck. The rear half, which would have held the engine and other machinery, may have been sunk by the weight of metal.

The launch was about twenty-five feet long originally, painted white, with yellow deck.

Must Support Wife or Serve Jail Term

Edward Collins, Port Norfolk street, was today ordered by the court to pay his wife $12 a week and placed on probation for one month on a charge of non-support. D. R. Shurtleff, agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and Patrolman Lyman Clark testified they broke into the Collins house and found Edward Collins, a baby, starving. They also said they found two other small children neglected.

Guests of Father McNulty Court.

Joseph T. Brennan, H. C. R., and Peter J. Dorey, D. H. C. R., will be the guests of Father McNulty Court, M. C. O. F., at Foresters' Hall, Brockton, next Friday evening.

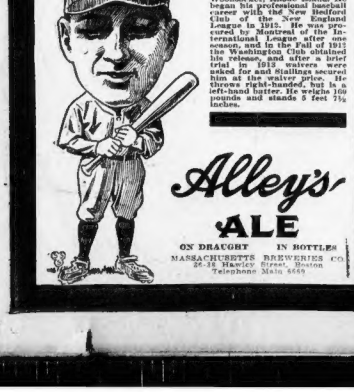
Moran May Lose Killifer.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8. — The Phillies are home without Catcher Killifer, whose right arm is ailing him and who is being treated by a New York specialist. Manager Moran fears he may be without the services of his crack receiver the rest of the route.

Lippincott Is Reinstated.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Donald M. Lippincott, the University of Pennsylvania sprinter who was suspended under suspicion of having engaged in a fake professional race at Ilion, N. Y., has established his innocence and been reinstated.



Joseph Connolly, left fielder, was born February 27, 1880, at Woonsocket, Rhode Island. He began his professional baseball career with the New Bedford Club of the New England League in 1905. He was procured by Montreal of the International League after one season, and in the Fall of 1912 the Washington Club obtained his release, and after a brief trial in 1912 waivers were asked for and Stallings secured him at the waiver price. He throws right-handed, but is a left-hand batter. He weighs 160 pounds and stands 5 feet 7½ inches.

GIBBONS A 7-TO-5 CHOICE IN BOUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 8—"Packey" McFarland and Mike Gibbons indulged in some strenuous stunts in the final training ter their ten-round bout Saturday night at Brighton Beach. Both men worked nearly ten rounds with their several sparring partners, following a morning on the road, and did some big-punching in the afternoon.

Up to the present time there has been but little betting on the bout. Gibbons rules a favorite at odds around 7-5. The consensus of opinion is that the bout will be decided by a knockout.

MARSHALL NOW SEEKS RICHIE-LEWIS BATTLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Brighton Motordrome promoters, who stage the "Packey" McFarland-Mike Gibbons fight Saturday night, are angling for a match between Ted (Kid) Lewis and Willie Ritchie, to be staged the early part of October. Mish Murray of Boston is also after this match.

"THE RABBITS' COLUMN" By Walter J. Maranville SHORTSTOP OF THE BRAVES

BROOKLYN, Sept. 8.—We are in this man's town today. We play two games today and one tomorrow and then start a swing around the Western end of the circuit which will play a prominent part in deciding if the Braves will represent the National League in the World's Series this year. We are fast closing in on the Phillies, while we do not expect to experience much trouble passing the Robins. The Phillies, as I have stated all along, are beginning to give up under the strain of a close race. Their pitchers have "cracked," as was so plainly evident in their recent series in Brooklyn.

DURING the past few days I have had a splendid opportunity to see the Giants the "once over" from close quarters. McGraw's outfit is not in the pennant scramble, but there are few clubs in the National League which possess as many high-class players as the band which represents Gotham. The failure of the Giants to come through has been one of the big surprises of the baseball world. It is very difficult to explain the falldown of the Giants.

* * *

WHEN the team in the Toner circuit left the post in April I believed that we would have to beat out New York and Chicago in order to win the championship. With the season almost over, both of these outfits are considered out of the race for flag honors. It is surprises like this which have made baseball so popular. The average person is not interested in "sure things." The public will always pay good money to see two evenly matched teams, or athletes, clash, but not many will turn out when everybody knows how an event is going to terminate before it takes place.

BUT back to the case of the Giants. McGraw has a smart ball club under his command and it should be fighting it out with the league leaders at this stage of the game. Let us discuss the makeup of the New York team. With Merkle at first, Doyle at second, Fletcher at short and Lobert or Grant at third, McGraw has one of the best infields in the league. These men are all hard hitters, clever fielders and daring base runners. In the outfield the Giants have a couple of star men in Burns and Robertson, while Thorpe is not the poorest outfield sentinel in the world. It cannot be said that the Giants are weak behind the bat with a star like Meyers on the job.

MOST baseball experts attribute the failure of the Giants to keep up with the leaders to the poor work of the pitchers. Mathewson, of course, is not as good as he used to be, while Marquard failed to show to advantage this year. Perrit also did not do as well as expected, while Tesreau has had his ups and downs. Stroud and a few other youngsters have shown flashes of championship form, but a winning club requires at least two seasoned pitchers going at top speed all the time.

* * *

I DO not wish to contend that the Giants have the greatest pitching staff in the big leagues, for such is far from being the case. But even with their pitchers going poorly, New York should have done much better than it has. It's batting strength should have carried it to victory when the hurlers faltered.

* * *

M'GRAW will probably make a number of changes in his lineup before the flag fight gets underway in 1915. He will probably try and land a few star pitchers, another reliable catcher, a good batting outfielder, while he may possibly go after another infielder.

* * *

M'GRAW is a great baseball leader. He can take his reverses like the battle-scarred veteran he is. But while McGraw's team is being defeated and forced to trail the leaders, he is planning for another season. He is strengthening the weak spots in his machine, and, when another campaign starts, the Giants will probably be "up there."

No Newport Play for Candidates Crimson Eleven

Coach Percy Haughton of the Harvard eleven announces a switch in his early preparatory plans. The practice session carded for Newport this week has been called off. Instead, the squad will do its first work on Soldiers Field next Monday.

Captain Mahan is contemplating having over 100 candidates report for duty right off the reel. Mahan will open the week-end with Haughton at the business men's camp in Plattsburg and coach and captain practically agreed upon their plan of action for the early work.

It is thought that Stanley Pennock, All-American guard for several years, and "Bob" Storer, captain of The 1912 eleven, will join the coaching staff. W. H. Trumbull and F. J. Bradlee had planned helping in the early doings, but business cares will keep both old heroes away.

Schang Will Hardly Play.

Wallie Schang, one of "Connie" Mack's Best Bets, will hardly be seen in the games with the Red Sox. He has the thumb on his right hand split wide open from coming in contact with a pair of spikes in yesterday's first game with Washington. Oldring wound up operating on third.

Evers Cannot Play Today.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 8.—The Braves will be without the services of Captain Johnny Evers in today's doubleheader with the Robins. President Tener has ruled that Sunday did not count in the Trojan's five days' suspension.

Yes; S. S. S. Is Purely Vegetable Nature's Safe Blood Treatment

Known for 50 Years as the Best Remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases.

Scientists have discovered that the forest and the field are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood poison and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. RED SOX IN TWIN BILL WITH MACKS

By RIGHT FIELD.

The Red Sox, with the soft pads of the crouching Tiger in their ears, are out today for a cleanup in the twin bill with the Athletics, who are here for three days, while the Braves move over into Brooklyn for a doubleheader with the Robins, which is likely to prove a hammer and tongs affair.

Ross Bill Carrigan expects to send "Dutch" Leonard after the first clash at Fenway Park and probably Carl Mays of the underhand shoots after the second.

There are really about the only two the Sox can send in, although "Goose Egg" George Foster might be called on in the first and Vean Gregg in the second. With today's double-header, the second of the week, out of the way, things will be easier for awhile for the Sox hurling corps.

"Connie" Mack arrived on the scene early with his pupils and intimated that he was decidedly not going to let the Sox pick up another four from him, the way they did in Slowtown last week.

CROWELL DOWN TO HURL.

He plans to send Crowell, the eminent graduate of Brown University, to the box in the first game. Crowell has not been working much of late, but started like a house afire earlier in the season and is now said to be back in form.

Although Crowell is at the dropping off place in the standing of pitchers, part of it is the Athletics' fault. Sheehan is the alternate.

"Bullet Joe" Bush or Nabors may be looked for in the second clash.

BRAVES OPEN IN BROOKLYN.

It is "Nifty" Arthur Nehf's turn to hurl for Stallings in the first game today and if he turns in a one-hit performance, as he did against the Robins at Allston last Saturday, we might as well figure out the Braves' percentage for half the day's toil this minute. "No-Hit" Davis, the Harvard strong boy, will be warmed up for the second game.

The series will be unique in that it will not be started by "Fordham Dick" Rudolph. The Little Master was last out of the stable on Monday, when Tesreau breezed home ahead, and needs a bit more rest.

Sherrod Smith in the opener and "Wheezer" Dell in the closing brush are the Brooklyn nominees.

The Braves are still determined to keep in the thick of things and the wires ought to tell something good of them today. The Robins having taken three from the Phillies, the Braves figure it would add to Boston's fame if they went in and made the day unhappy for the chubby Wilbert Robinson and his hopeful athletes.

FIVE FLYERS ON BEACH RACE CARD

There will not be any racing at the Revere Track tonight.

The world's motor-paced championship will be raced for over again at the Revere Cycle Track Saturday night, only there won't be any title go with it this time. The field will be the same and the race will be ridden over the regulation championship course of 62½ miles.

Victor Linart, Antwerp, Belgium, world's champion; George Wiley, Syracuse, national champion; George Seres, Paris, France; Clarence Carman, Jamaica, L. I., and Tony Colombatto, Italy, will comprise the classy field.

This race was arranged at the request of Wiley. The little American title-holder still insists he is the Belgian's master and claims he partly proved it by defeating Linart in the fifty-mile event Labor Day night.

The fact that the race was not over the regulation 100-kilometer course, however, would give Linart ground for argument and that is why Wiley wants another "championship" race.

Tyro Annexes Title for Class A Yachts

Racing for the class championships of the Y. R. U. of M. came to an end with the Labor Day regatta at Squantum.

A compilation of the figures for Association's season race give the championships to the following yachts:

Class A—Tyro, Hollis Burgess, Boston Y. C.
Class B—Nirmea, Mullen & Cranford, N. H. Y. C.
Class D—Dartwell, I. M. Whittemore, Quincy Y. C.
Class E—Dorina—Shadow, Chester Pyne, Swifts Hill Y. C.
Class L—Lassie, A. H. Whittemore, Boston Y. C.

The Dartwell, Shadow and Nirmea are repeaters. In Class A the Arrayo finished second and the Colema third.

WILLARD ADVISES OLD HEROES TO GO SLOW

By JESS WILLARD.

Heavyweight Champion of the World.

Copyright, 1913, by W. R. Hearst. All rights reserved.

Battling Nelson, who has been lodging the pugilistic graveyard for several years, was led into the ring against a boy a little over one-half his age down Juarez way yesterday. The bout went the full twenty rounds and at the end the decision was rendered to Bobby Waugh.

Nelson took on this battle for one reason: If he had been victorious the promoters had practically agreed to put up a $25,000 purse for a bout between the Battler and Freddy Welsh, which would give Nelson another crack at the title which he once ably defended.

Nelson should know better. There is no reason in the world why a fighter, who has enjoyed his area of popularity and has a snug fortune put away, should want to "come back" as often as a greedy promoter is willing to put him on. I have no desire to be a verbal slam at Nelson; I am just generalizing.

One figure stands out prominently in my mind in this connection. I refer to Ad Wolgast, also a member of the Association of Lightweight exchampions. True, Wolgast came after Nelson, but that is no reason why he should try to beat Nelson's longevity record.

Wolgast has something like $250,000 stowed away; yet, here he is fighting all comers for a paltry $750 and $1,000—paltry sums when it is recalled that Wolgast used to clean up for $8,500 to $10,000 on any of his fights when he used to hold the championship.

WOLGAST MAKING MISTAKE.

It is all very well for Wolgast to try to add to his fortune. But he has no business to do it at the expense of his health. Even in his palmy days, Wolgast was an unlucky fighter. He escaped a few fights without breaking some bones in his hands. Even in his winning he was unfortunate. Something or other would crop up to cause cancellation of his most important bouts.

Wolgast is not a frail lad, by any means. He still has the little hard body and rugged constitution that enabled him to fight his way to the top.

But how long can he go along fighting younger men? It will be Wolgast's misfortune some day to land such a terrible beating that he will have to retire from the ring forever. Mayhaps he will be so badly injured that even his money will not afford him any comfort.

Ad is not a silly boy to expose himself to the dangers—the uncertainty of the game, for a few thousand dollars. But all the time his vitality is being sapped; his strength undermined and his features more disfigured. And at least, at present, is no prize winner in a beauty show.

I elaborate on Wolgast's case because he is of the more recent vintage of ex-champions who are struggling to get back into the ring game. The next thing we shall hear, I suppose, is that Bob Fitzsimmons is out with a challenge to fight me for the heavyweight title. Rest assured, I will not spend many sleepless nights worrying over Mr. Ruby Robert. I have enough on my mind considering the eligibles for a match with me.

M'FARLAND A VAIN YOUTH.

Now let us ponder over the case of McFarland. Here is another fighter that has a quarter of a million in the bank; yet he is going to engage in a battle Saturday night, the outcome of which will mean nothing to the fight-going public.

Packey is to fight Mike Gibbons. He is to receive $17,500 for his services, regardless of how the bout terminates. Packey does not need the $17,500 to save him from ruin, yet he is coming out of a two-year retirement to show us that he is still among those present.

I diagnose McFarland's ailment as vanity. He has an inkling that he can outpoint Gibbons; surely he does not hope to knock out the man who is generally looked upon as the best of the middleweights. Packey is in danger of being knocked out, and the prevailing idea among the so-called experts is that Gibbons will put over a finishing blow before the tenth round. For that reason alone, to my mind—for the reason of showing that he will not be knocked out—Packey took on the match.

I can ascribe no other reason for Packey's return to the ring after showing himself to be a capable business man. He must be a capable business man to make a promoter give him $17,609 for a ten-round, no-decision bout, not a championship in the balance.

It is highly likely that I will defend my heavyweight championship before another eight weeks, although I am ready to take on all challengers right now. I am in honor bound to give daily exhibitions at the shows I am now booked at until November 1; after that it is optional with me whether I care to continue or quit.

WILLARD READY IN NOVEMBER.

If by early November a challenger is picked for me, and a promoter offers me a suitable purse, I shall be ready to step into the ring at a moment's notice.

I have not neglected my training during my tour. I box every day and go through practically the same stunts that helped me get into condition for Johnson at Havana.

Although I have no desire to consult myself, I have a hunch that either Jim Coffey or Frank Moran will be my first opponent when I return to the ring. It all depends on who survives their coming bout. It is scheduled to take place October 19, and I will endeavor to be at the ringside and report the bout for the Hearst newspapers. It will not be up to me to choose my opponent, as public sentiment will pick the man for me.

I am glad to see my two former sparring partners making good in the ring. Jim Savage and Jack Kemple, who helped prepare me for the big fight, are making quite a reputation for themselves. What pleases me most is that they are not trading on my name, although some promoters have attempted to exploit them on the strength of their being in my camp. Those two boys are getting along on their merits.

And wouldn't it be one of the queer quirks of fate if one of them were to be pitted against me for the championship in the near future?

Willard Sizes Up McFarland and Gibbons

Between Gibbons and Packey McFarland there is little to choose, Jess Willard thinks. The two will meet at Brighton Beach, New York, on Saturday night of this week and from a financial standpoint, at least, it will be the biggest fight since the championship battle in Havana.

McFarland is coming back to the ring for this fight, and in the next of the new Willard articles the champion will tell what he thinks of each fighter.

The next article of this series will appear in the AMERICAN on Saturday, September 11th.

Miss Molla Bjurstedt 'Saw' Johnston's Win

The victory of William M. Johnston over Maurice E. McLoughlin for the national tennis title was a surprise to "practically everyone, but those who read the expert accounts of the progress of the tournament in the AMERICAN by Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the world's foremost woman tennis player, got the right "dope."

In her article printed last Saturday Miss Bjurstedt said, "Watch Johnston."

And Johnston defeated McLoughlin, to the great surprise of other tennis experts.

WILLS WINS IN ATLAS TUSSLE WITH M'VEY

HARRY WILLS, who graduated from the cotton fields of the dear old South into the squared circle, today declared he would like to get a crack at Sam Langford, or any other real fighter, in a regular battle. Be it known that Wills performed at the Atlas A. A. last night. He was pitted against Sam McVey, who is quite a scrapper himself, but when the final blow had been delivered in the twelfth round Referee Phil Powers decided that the Southern negro had the best of the going.

Powers' verdict was a good one. McVey tried his best to dispose of his husky opponent, but he was not equal to the task. He was clearly outpointed in the majority of the rounds.

The bout itself was not a thrilling affair. There were flashes of hard, fast milling scattered throughout the twelve frames, but there was also much slow milling.

WILLS is a physical marvel. He is six feet two and one-half inches tall while he weighs 216 pounds. He has a chest measurement of forty-six inches, while his waist is but twenty-nine inches. He is twenty-four years of age and consequently has a bright ring future. Wills' manager claims his protege is not a full blooded negro. He says he is half Indian and advances the information that his father was an honest-to-goodness Cherokee chief. Be it as it may, Wills is able to give a good account of himself within the hemp ropes. He is not yet a finished boxer, but should improve.

M'VEY did not show very well last night. He was unable to get out of the way of Wills' snappy left jabs, while the New Orleans heavyweight also bested him at infighting. Perhaps McVey's state of mind was caused by Sandy Ferguson's presence at the ringside.

Sam Langford and "Kid" Cotton were also numbered among those present. They declared they'are willing to meet all comers.

Jre Woodman, Langford's manager, says that he has backing for $15,000 which he is willing to guarantees Jess Willard for a ten-round bout with the "Tar Baby" to be staged in New York in the Fall. Woodman asserts he feels confident that the ban on "mixed" bouts will be lifted in Gotham by that time.

THE real fight of the night was between Terry Brooks and Charley Boyers. It was a "grudge" battle and Brooks bested in a hard, fast eight rounds of milling. Terry led by about forty lengths and Referee Maffit Flaherty's job was not a hard one. Boyers, however, was willing at all times and kept Brooks traveling at top speed. Brooks scored the only knockdown of the fight in the sixth frame.

"Teddy" Murphy lost to "Young" Stearns, while "Duke" Fuller defeated Al Terry.

SANDY FERGUSON and Battling Levinsky will furnish the festivities in a twelve-round skirmish next Tuesday evening. As Levinsky only weighs 178 pounds, Ferguson believes he will finish in front.

Charley White and Gilbert Gallant will meet at the Triple A organization on September 21.

Up Goes Football Curtain.

Michael Dervin, Lynn Entrant, Bent on Seeing Series

This is the last week of the American Great Baseball Contest. The last vote coupon will appear in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

Monday, September 29, at 5 o'clock p. m. will be closing time for the final depositing of ballots.

As the AMERICAN did not publish on Monday, September 6, (Labor Day), Series "L" consists of coupons printed Monday, September 5, and including Sunday, September 12.

The vote-gathering done during the last series will be the crucial test which will determine the winners.

It is a real battle of ballots now and every vote counts big at this stage of the game.

Michael Dervin of No. 19 Chase street, Lynn, is a popular baseball fan and a member of the Lynn Lodge of Elks, is making a grand fight for a place among the leaders.

Gotham Boxing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Crowds that pack the gymnasium to the doors are turning out to see Jim Coffey go through his routine work at the New York A. C. The Roscommon Giant is working hard, preparing himself for his encounter with Frank Moran next Monday night.

JOE MANDOT is seeking a run-in with Johnny Dundee.

Jimmy Johnston has clinched a ten-round bout between Jack Savage and Tom Cowler, who recently disposed of Jack Hemple in three rounds, to be staged at the St. Nicholas Rink one week from tonight.

SEPTEMBER 29 Savage will again figure as one of the principals in the main event at the St. Nicholas Rink when he books up with "Gunboat" Smith.

BOXING RESULTS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Joe Borrell nearly defeated Young Loughrey in their six-round bout at the Quaker City A. C. Loughrey only won the decision.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8.—Eddie O'Keefe of Philadelphia, Young Shea of Baltimore and Freddie Brown of New York put on a fast three-cornered fight at Fairfield A. C. Shea was lucky to last the ten rounds.

NEW COURT KING IS ONLY 20; A WIZARD

By ARTHUR ROBINSON.

FOREST HILL, N. Y., Sept 8—William M. Johnson of California, is the new National tennis champion. He won his title in one of the most sensational matches in the history of the sport, when he defeated Maurice E. McLaughlin on the West Side courts. A remarkable gallery of about 10,000 persons saw the match.

Twenty years old and a champion; the youngest champion in the annals of the game, a great champion; and a champion at the expense of the most remarkable player of all time, McLoughlin, the conqueror of Anthony Wilding and Norman Brookes in the last international Davis Cup matches—that is William M. Johnston.

Yet he is more than the champion of the country. He is a modern edition of Richard the Lion-Hearted, for his slight and lithe frame houses the heart of a giant—a courage giant. McLoughlin split the honors with him in this respect.

BEST OF SPORTSMANSHIP.

That one of the players had to lose was the very regrettable feature of the match. That is the sort of tennis played, and that is the sort of style of sportsmanship they displayed.

And that also was the general impression of the spectators; for when the match was over, and Johnston was being carried off the field on the shoulders of Lyle Mahan and H. C. Guiler, and McLoughlin by Tom Bundy and Ward Dawson, a mighty roar of cheers that had to be heard to be fully appreciated went up.

Twenty years old! It is almost inconceivable that a "kid" of such an age should beat the Cyclonic Comet, a player who had established beyond all doubt in two hemispheres his right to be known as the peer of them all. Yet it is an indisputable fact.

EARNED HIS VICTORY.

Johnston earned his victory and fully deserves the title which will be his. He early demonstrated his superiority, and McLaughlin played better tennis than he did in any of the tournaments in which he took part since his arrival in the East about six weeks ago.

He was the old McLoughlin, the McLoughlin who battered down the defence of the world's best players by the sheer force of his smashing attacks and wonderful vitality.

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORTS

BY RIGHT FIELD

IT will be interesting to note the reign of vantage from which "Iron Man" Jack Coombs sees the World's Series. Last year, when on "Connie" Mack's payroll, Macks, and all the more so because they dropped the entire series with "Smiling Bill" Donovan's crew.

EVERYTHING seems to be fish that lands in Hughey Jennings' net. He is expected to get several good games out of Grover Laudermilk, whom he purchased outright from the Browns. Laudermilk has taken part in thirty-eight games, eight going down as wins and nineteen as losses, but Jennings has probably taken into account some of the games the Browns have booted away. The new Tiger is credited with being a hard man to stand up to at the plate and good things are expected of him with a strong defence behind him. Doubtless Laudermilk will be here with the Tigers on their coming Fenway Park invasion.

BROOKLYN folk, trailing along with the Robins, hope to see the "Iron Man" battling against the best in Ban Johnson's crowd when the October classic is staged. Philadelphia and Boston "fans" insist that Jack will have to see the big event from the grandstand and not from the dugout or the mound. What will Fate hold in store for the battle-scarred vet in this scrambled year?

SOME of the Red Sox were gleeful when they learned that the Tigers could not get in the two games for which they were scheduled on the holiday. The Sox figured that Hughey Jennings might not be able to work the games with St. Louis off this year, and that the fact would prove of benefit to pennant hopes here in Boston. The Tigers, however, finish their schedule several days earlier than most of the other teams, and it appears that these two games that went over can be played while the Tigers are waiting for the rest of the field to finish. If Jennings needs the games, rest assured he will find some way in which to play them.

"CONNIE" MACK is here with his experimental team today, to give more or less battle to the Red Sox, whom he entertained in Philadelphia only a week ago. The Sox are eager to take another straight series from the Macks, and all the more so because they dropped the entire series with "Smiling Bill" Donovan's crew.

Cutler-Hassane Go Wanted by Tuohey

George Tuohey is making every effort to secure the match between Charley Cutler and Youssef Hassane, two of the world's greatest catch-as-catch-can wrestlers. Although bids were to have been opened yesterday, the receipt of a telgram from Harry Hoagren, the Salt Lake promoter, has held up bids another day.

Just what Hoagren offers is not known, but Tuohey feels confident that his bid of $6,000 will capture the plum. If Boston gets the match, it will be staged at Braves Field, Wednesday evening, September 17.

Brown Candidates Out.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 8.—The early football candidates at Brown will be given first practice by Coach Ed Robinson today. Centres and quarters are those that will report. The general call for candidates has been issued for next Monday.

Rindge Tech Coach Resigns.

Charles A. Linehan has resigned as coach of the Rindge Technical School football and baseball teams. He intends remaining a member of the Rindge faculty. James O'Brien, a former Holy Cross star, is slated to succeed Linehan.

OUR FIRST DUTY IS TO MAINTAIN PEACE; OUR NEXT DUTY IS TO PREPARE FOR WAR

One Hundred Submarines for China

Is the Only Rival of the United States in Defencelessness Going to WAKE UP Ahead of the United States?

Copyright, 1915, by the Star Company.

CHINA has ordered one hundred submarines built in the United States—so dispatches say.

They are evidently to be large-size submarines, for they are to cost seventy-five millions—seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars apiece.

And China, we are told, is arranging to supply the seventy-five millions to pay for those submarines.

Good news for American submarine manufacturers.

But what about the United States?

What does the ordinary citizen think when he hears that China, huge like OURSELVES, defenceless like OURSELVES, but HAVING HAD RECENTLY A GOOD LESSON FROM JAPAN, has decided to be defenceless no longer?

Poor China, hard up for money, harassed by internal rebellion, bullied by Japan, finds it difficult to raise any cash.

And yet the Chinese, realizing that the modern weapon is the submarine, that coasts must be defended, have the courage to place an order for seventy-five millions of the modern unseen fighting ships.

We have a copy of a German newspaper describing the shipping from Canada of many submarines for England made by the American Submarine Company.

Now China orders one hundred of these American undersea boats.

How long will it be before the submarine manufacturers of the United States will be put to work making submarines FOR THE UNITED STATES?

If China needs at once one hundred submarines, and can afford to order them, poor as she is, spending seventy-five millions of dollars, how many submarines does THE UNITED STATES need, and how many can the United States afford to build? What, in other words, is the comparative value of our coast cities and those of China?

The average submarine costs half a million dollars and needs a crew of only twenty men. It can easily destroy a battleship costing twenty millions and carrying three thousand men.

Fifty submarines stationed at important points on the Atlantic would cost only twenty-five millions, and as a beginning they would make any hostile fleet hesitate.

One hundred and fifty submarines connected with wireless with the shore would make the Atlantic coast of the United States safe if properly backed up with the right aeroplane flock and the right battleship fleet.

One hundred and fifty submarines of the smaller type would cost seventy-five millions. Of the biggest, best type they would cost one hundred and fifty millions.

They would make impossible the capture of any city on the Atlantic coast. And the capture of New York city alone WOULD COST A THOUSAND MILLIONS TO START WITH AND SEVERAL TIMES THAT AMOUNT IN THE END.

The United States needs one hundred and fifty submarines on the Atlantic Coast alone, fifty at least to protect the gulf cities and the eastern entrance to the Panama Canal, AND ONE HUNDRED OR MORE ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

Meanwhile the submarine company of the United States, with its great equipment in the United States and Canada, is manufacturing for Europe, for China, FOR EVERYBODY EXCEPT THE UNITED STATES.

Somebody will feel foolish, and somebody, including all the members of Congress, will feel guilty if a sudden change in the wind sends the fire of war to this country and finds us unprepared.

We need SUBMARINES, battleships, torpedo-boat destroyers, and, first of all, AIRSHIPS and SUBMARINES.

Now Let the Walrus and the Carpenter Get Busy

The nervous epicure, the timid housewife and the obese gourmand are now in a position to enjoy eight months of solid contentment, since August, the last month minus the letter "R," has rolled by. Now that September has arrived, King Oyster may be eaten safely, even with impunity. A plateful of Blue Points on the half-shell may now be consumed without one palpitating fear lest a murderous typhus germ be lurking near.

Those inclined to the view that of all delicacies the oyster is supreme are assured that the bivalves are of a quality unsurpassed in former years, owing to the expert care now expended in oyster culture.

Baseball and poker vie for the honor of standing as our national game, but the luscious, succulent oyster—scalloped, stewed, "on the half," etc., etc.—is practically without a competitor for the glory of being America's national dish.

Oyster lovers, do you know that you sustain an industry whose annual revenues approximate $10,000,000?

Evolution

By Langdon Smith

(One of our readers has asked us to reprint the late Langdon Smith's poem, "Evolution." Here it is:)

WHEN you were a tadpole and I was a fish.
In the Paleozoic time,
And side by side on the ebbing tide
We sprawled through the ooze and slime,
Or skittered with many a caudal flip
Through the depths of the Cambrian fen,
My heart was rife with the joy of life,
For I loved you, even then.

Mindless we lived and mindless we loved,
And mindless at last we died;
And deep in a rift of the Caradoc drift
We slumbered side by side.
The world turned on in the lathe of time,
The hot lands heaved amain,
Till we caught our breath from the womb of death,
And crept into light again.

We were amphibians, scaled and tailed,
And drab as a dead man's hand;
We coiled at ease 'neath the dripping trees,
Or trailed through the mud and sand,
Croaking and blind, with our three-clawed feet
Writing a language dumb.
With never a spark in the empty dark
To hint at a life to come.

Yet happy we lived, and happy we loved,
And happy we died once more.
Our forms were rolled in the clinging mold
Of a Neocomian shore.
The eons came, and the eons fled,
And the sleep that wrapped us fast
Was riven away in a newer day,
And the night of death was past.

Then light and swift through the jungle trees
We swung in our airy flights,
Or breathed in the balms of the fronded palms,
In the hush of the moonless nights,
And oh! what beautiful years were these,
When our hearts clung each to each.
When life was filled and our senses thrilled
In the first faint dawn of speech.

Thus life by life, and love by love,
We passed through the cycles strange,
And breath by breath, and death by death,
We followed the chain of change.
Till there came a time in the law of life
When over the nursing sod
The shadows broke, and the soul awoke
In a strange, dim dream of God.

I was thewed like an Auroch bull,
And tusked like the great Cave Bear;
And you, my sweet, from head to feet,
Were gowned in your glorious hair,
Deep in the gloom of a fireless cave,
When the night fell o'er the plain,
And the moon hung red o'er the river bed,
We mumbled the bones of the slain.

I flaked a flint to a cutting edge,
And shaped it with brutish craft;
I broke a shank from the woodland dank,
And fitted it, head and haft.
Then I hid me close to the ready tarn,
Where the mammoth came to drink—
Through brawn and bone I drave the stone,
And slew him upon the brink.

Loud I howled through the moonlit wastes,
Loud answered our kith and kin;
From west and east to the crimson feast
The clan came trooping in.
O'er joint and gristle and padded hoof
We fought and clawed and tore,
And cheek by jowl, with many a growl,
We talked the marvel o'er.

I carved that fight on a reindeer bone
With rude and hairy hand,
I pictured his fall on the cavern wall
That men might understand.
For we lived by blood, and the right of might,
Ere human laws were drawn,
And the Age of Sin did not begin
Till our brutal tusks were gone.

And that was a million years ago,
In a time that no man knows;
Yet here tonight in the mellow light
We sit at Delmonico's.
Your eyes are deep as the Devon springs,
Your hair is as dark as jet;
Your years are few, your life is new,
Your soul untried, and yet—

Our trail is on the Kimmeridge clay,
And the scarp of the Purbeck flags,
We have left our bones in the Bagshot stones,
And deep in the coraline crags;
Our love is old, our lives are old,
And death shall come amain;
Should it come today, what man may say
We shall not live again?

God wrought our souls from the Tremadoc beds
And furnished them wings to fly;
He sowed our spawn in the world's dim dawn,
And I know that it shall not die.
Though cities have sprung above the graves
Where the crook-boned men made war,
And the ox-wain creaks o'er the buried caves
Where the mummied mammoths are.

Then as we linger at luncheon here,
O'er many a dainty dish,
Let us drink anew to the time when you
Were a Tadpole and I was a Fish.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

Movie Serials

THE loveliest of maidens sat beside a railroad track;
Two big, cold-blooded ruffians sneaked up behind her back
And with a gag about her mouth to stifle down her cries
They took a horsehide lariat and lashed her to the ties.
The Nine Sixteen came thundering up, and then appeared this text:
THIS THRILLING PICTURE SERIAL CONTINUED WEDNESDAY NEXT!

THEY hurled the hero off the ship; he cleft the rolling wave
And went, as we at first supposed, to fill a watery grave.
But, no! his head and arms appear! He stands a chance to win!
Yet there behind him we observe a speeding dorsal fin.
"A shark! a shark! He's gone," we cry and then he fades from sight,
And on the flickering screen is flashed: "CONTINUED MONDAY NIGHT."

I WONDER often if that girl was pitilessly slain
Or if, just in the nick of time, somebody flagged the train.
I wonder often if that shark, as frequently sharks do,
Turned over on his back and bit that poor young man in two.
But dread suspense must haunt me through my lifetime, I suppose,
For I went out of town next week and never saw the shows.
